UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMME

Admissions – 2023

< <https://www.nujs.edu/home/admissions/admission-2023/> >

OVERVIEW

NUJS strives to offer the best in legal education in order to prepare its graduates for the diverse spheres of litigation, corporate legal practice, legal academia, legal research, social service and public leadership. It offers various academic programmes including the popular five-year integrated B.A. LL.B (Hons.), which is the flagship programme of the University. This five-year undergraduate programme is divided into ten semesters.

Students learn through discussion-based, interactive classroom experience and a rigorous Socratic methodology which encourages critical thinking. The academic year is divided into two semesters of equal duration, followed by an examination at the end of each semester.

Every student undergoes rigorous training and skills learning through projects, viva voce, moot court participation, and several other intensive activities.

The programme, has been designed in a manner that allows integration of law, social sciences and humanities. This seeks to provide our students with a holistic appreciation of law and its interaction with the society from a multi-disciplinary perspective. Therefore, the programme requires students to complete courses on History, Political Science, Economics, and Sociology along with law-courses.

More critically, students are not only taught foundational law courses but, in fact, there are several elective courses which combine analytical techniques and research methods from different disciplines. Courses such as Corporate Finance, International Commercial Arbitration, Securities Law, Judicial Review, Competition Law, Nuclear Law, Law and Impoverishment, Law and Gender, Law and Economics, Law and Development, Biotechnology and Law, Medicine and Law, Law and Media, Sports and Law, Forensic Sciences are offered as Elective Courses on a regular basis. These courses give students the opportunity to specialize in their preferred areas of study. In principle, only foundational courses are compulsory while all the rest are electives.

Grading of results is done on a seven-point scale. Faculty enjoys considerable autonomy in introducing innovative teaching and evaluation methods, and students are introduced to a vast range of teaching and evaluation techniques through different elective courses.

The students are also encouraged to participate in serious research and writing, both through the writing of research papers as an evaluation component, and through the medium of law journals, NUJS Law Review and Journal of Indian Law and Society of which the former is a quarterly publication while the latter appears bi-annually. NUJS Law Review has also been ranked as the number one academic law journal of India for the year 2008 and 2009 by the Washington and Lee University School of Law ranking of law journals. Other Law

A firm conceptual grounding and training in research are accompanied by a systematic focus on practical skill-training. Clinical legal education and experiential learning through moot courts, simulation exercises, internships, legal aid activities not only equip the students in the technical and legal aspects, but also enable them to develop the art of advocacy. At the end of each semester, students are expected to intern in a diverse range of organizations including law firms senior counsel offices, in-house legal teams, NGOs, research and policy think tanks, etc.

In addition, Legal Aid Programmes, collaborative activities with non-governmental organisations and human rights bodies, research projects for governmental bodies provide students to grow as socially relevant lawyers and understand their roles as agents of empowerment and protection for vulnerable groups.
