

first contact who is capable of looking after the preventive, primitive, curative and rehabilitative aspects of medical care.

The broad-based training aims to provide an educational experience with all the essentials required for health care in our country. Moreover, a wide range of career opportunities awaits students.

Click here if you want to know about course fees.

At the end of postgraduate training the student should be able to:-

Objective:

At the end of the undergraduate program, the medical student shall endeavor to be able to:

- Recognize 'Health for All' as a national goal of all citizens. Fulfill his/her social obligations towards the realization of this goal;
- Learn every aspect of National Policies on health and its practical implementation;
- Achieve competence in the practice of holistic medicine, encompassing primitive, preventive, curative and rehabilitative aspects of common diseases;
- Develop scientific temper and acquire experience for proficiency and promote healthy living;
- Become an exemplary citizen by observing medical ethics and fulfill social and professional obligations.
- Be competent in the diagnosis and management of common health problems of an individual or the community;
- Appreciate rationale for different therapeutic modalities, be familiar with the administration of the 'essential drugs' and their common side effects;
- Be able to appreciate the socio-psychological, cultural, economic and environmental factors affecting health. Develop a humane attitude towards the patients in discharging one's professional responsibilities;
- Possess the attitude for continued self-learning and to seek further expertise or to pursue research in any chosen area of medicine;
- Be familiar with the basic factors which are essential for the implementation of national health goals.